Physical Description / Condition:
Administrative/ Biographical Sketch	James Norris (1820-1891), a mariner, mill owner and merchant, living in St. Catharines, Ont. owned the steamer Persia. The Persia was built in 1873 by Melancthon Simpson at his shipyard in St. Catharines, Ont. The Persia was captained by John H. Scott, who had a wealth of maritime experience travelling the Great Lakes and beyond. The Persia was used to transport flour milled by Norris to Montreal, but also became profitable to transport people between St. Catharines and Montreal and points in between. The pocket time card includes departure and arrival information, the cost of fare, as well as advertising other attractions in the Niagara area, including the Welland House and accessibility to the Grand Trunk Railway.
